SEMI-WEEKLY, 4 PAGES.

WAR IN A WEEK.

A Johannesburg despatch says: "War has been issued for the arrest of fifty prominent Dutchmen and journalists, but all received warning and safety. A confirmed rumor has reached Johannesburg that the first part of the Indian contingent have arrived at Durban, Natal. Late on Sunday the Boers established a camp at Sheep's Neck, near Vryheid, and they will mobilize a great force on Buffaloe river to-day, which the authorities at Dundee say will move across the border to that spot. It is probably to be believed a conflict at this point will occur early in the week. At the same time the Boers are collecting a force of 20,000 men under the notorious commandant Cronje, in the Mafeking gold fields, near Mafeking, where Colonel Baden Powell is stationed. Despatches from Tuli, Rhodesia, say that another force of Burghers is massed at Petersfield, 50 miles away, and outlying parties are placed at all districts of the Limpopo River. In the meantime Colonel Pienaar's column is moving 50 miles nearer the Transvaal frontier, and has established telephone connection to within 6 miles of Rhodes' drift on the Limpopo. Enthusiastic scenes at all railway stations marked the advance of the Natal volunteers. Despatches from Mafeking announce that Commandant Cronje, commander of the Transvaal border force, crossed the frontier and visited Chief Maralong, apparently with the object of inciting him to fight. The British civil commissioner ordered the chief to stay where he was and protect the women and children, telling him he would not be allowed to fight. The Boers openly threaten to raid Vryberg in British Bechuanaland as soon as hostilities begin, and the Kimberley Advertiser complains that the Cape ministry in not taking steps to prevent the same. Transvaal field cornets are taking the names of Cape Colony Boers willing to cross the border in the event of war.

According to despatches Pretoria is in complete chaos. The government has declared "Moratorium", an emergency act of legislation authorizing the government bank to suspend specie payments for a period, and closed down all courts and suspended all English papers. There will be nearly 30,000 burghers along the border this Monday evening.

The Orange Free State has ordered all burghers who are absent to return.

The British have made a clever manoeuvre from Ladysmith to Dundee.

Winnipeg, Oct. 2, '99.

Officers of the Montreal labor organizations, have met to consider the advisability of forming an independent party.

Jas. Sutherland, M. P., late liberal whip, was sworn in as a Dominion cabinet Minister without portfolio, on Saturday.

No much betting is being done in England on the Shamrock-Columbia races, the first of which takes place to-morrow.

Philip McPhail, a farm laborer, shot the daughter of his employer, P. Doyle, at Wardville, Ont., and then killed himself.

Eleven passengers were drowned in the wreck of the Scammon. The survivors have reached Quebec. Seventy-three of the Scammon's steerage were arrested at Montreal. On their persons were found valuable jewellery and goods. Miss Alice Louise, an Ottawa girl, told a thrilling story of her escape from the Scammon. The vessel will be a total wreck.

Victoria McVicar, whose family were the first white settlers in Port Arthur district, is dead.

Directors Godfrey Weir, W. Weir and F. W. Smith of the Bank Ville Marie have all received warning and safety. A confirmed rumor has reached Johannesburg that the first part of the Indian contingent have arrived at Durban, Natal.

Late on Sunday the Boers established a camp at Sheep's Neck, near Vryheid, and they will mobilize a great force on Buffaloe river to-day, which the authorities at Dundee say will move across the border to that spot. It is probably to be believed a conflict at this point will occur early in the week. At the same time the Boers are collecting a force of 20,000 men under the notorious commandant Cronje, in the Mafeking gold fields, near Mafeking, where Colonel Baden Powell is stationed.

The owners of the Parry Sound, Ont., copper mine have been offered three million dollars for the property.

JOHN GRAHAM of Clover Bar died yesterday after a comparatively short illness. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow at the Edmonton cemetery. The deceased was one of the pioneer farmers of the district. He leaves a widow, but no other relatives in this country.

THE Alberta Sun (Wetaskiwin) and Leader News, R. C. Edwards, editor, is to hand. The paper is well edited, very creditable to both places represented in its pages, and to the editor as well. Mr. Edwards' personality will make the paper—or papers—interesting besides the very good news service which they contain.

THE Otter gold dredge has been laid up for the season. The mining expert, Geo. Macfarlane, leaves in a few days for Australia and New Zealand, to post himself on the latest mining methods and to return to Edmonton in the spring to resume operations here. Mr. A. E. Hogue, dredge manager, also leaves for the east next month.

LAST week by hand of R. A. Mckenzie the BULLETIN received payment for two subscriptions in gold dust from Hunker Creek, Yukon. The subscribers are M. H. Boulaire and Geo. Farland, both former Edmontonians. The former went in by the coast and the latter by Rat river route, with Geo. Purchas.

THE C. P. R. Milling company applies for incorporation with $4,000 capital, divided into 80 shares of $50 each. The objects of the company are to thresh and grind grain and saw lumber. The incorporators are Irene Lavigne, merchant; Oneime Goudreau, Bernard Charest, Louis Charlet, Etienne Fouquet, Hercule Preville, Augustin Lambert, all farmers, of Beaumont, Alberta, who will be the first and provisional directors of the company.

THE first car of cement for the raising of the bridge piers came to town, and work which had been only delayed will now be pushed along.

The raising of the southern abutment will commence this afternoon or to-morrow morning and will be completed before the end of the week, by which time the false work will have been carried across to the first pier.

It is also expected that the remaining cars of cement will have arrived by that time. The engineers have now enough stone secured to finish the cement work.

REV. H. A. GRAY returned from Calgary on Friday.

H. W. HEATHCOTE returned from Calgary on Friday's train.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, OCT. 2ND, 1899

PRAIRIE FIRES.

The season of fires is at hand. The wet warm fall has stayed off the danger beyond the usual time. But it is bound to come. The wetter the season the ranker the growth; and the greater the danger once the grass gets dry. Everybody is interested in fire protection, and what is everybody's business nobody attends to. There is a special danger this fall to which the attention of those in authority is particularly drawn. Along the main trail from Edmonton, through Fort Saskatchewan and Edna to Manawan and Victoria, there are a very large number of Galicians travelling. They move along in either day or night, and being none too warmly clad, and not able to afford to pay for shelter, light a fire by the road side wherever they stop to rest for a few hours. They are very apt to leave these fires alight, and there are so many passing that it will be difficult to determine which party is responsible. A police patrol along this trail is absolutely necessary from this time until snow falls if the country is not to be in the most imminent danger of being burnt out.

THE FREE PRESS, having been sickened on itself publishing imaginary horrors and catastrophes on the Edmonton route to the Yukon, takes refuge in quoting from the Morden Chronicle, which as a certificate of its being truly a liberal organ thinks it necessary to make a profession of faith in the recent ghost stories of the Free Press and Globe. Will the Free Press, the Chronicle or any other paper kindly come down to particulars, and say just what they call the Edmonton route to the Yukon, and approximately how many men started over it, how many got through, how many failed, and how many suffered accidents fatal or otherwise on it. Then when they talk they will know what they are talking about. At present they don't, and are simply chewing over the productions of the yellow journals of Puget Sound cities, whose sole aim and purpose is to injure Canada—in which the Free Press, Globe, and some of the smaller fry are ably assisting them.

For the fiscal year 1898 agricultural implements valued at $781,415 were imported from the States. In 1899 the value was $1,521,054. The increase of imports is of course chiefly in the west. This is where the high rates of the C. P. R. go in their fine work on the Eastern manufacturer,—but he doesn't know it. He thinks that as only the western farmer is injured he, the eastern manufacturer, can stand it. The foregoing is a sample of what he has to stand.

FROM DAWSON.

The BULLETIN has received the following letter, dated Aug. 27th, from W. Clark at Dawson City:

I hear a great many people talking with quite a bit of profanity about what they call the "Back door route to the Yukon," and against the Edmonton population in general. I was among the principal part of these people when they were passing the Athabasca rapids, as you know, and the destination of 70 per cent of them was not the Klondike, but the other side of the mountains, such as Peel, Gravel, Liard and Frances rivers. When nothing was found there the only remaining thing to be done was either to go back or get through the best way they could. And some came through the most outlandish routes possible. Now about the Rat river route, which I took, and had no hardships whatever, and made very good time to the Yukon. I left the junction of the Parsnip and Finlay rivers on the 9th day of May, along with E. K. Bruch of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and was joined at Slave lake by A. Costello, and L. McCallum, and made the Yukon river on the 1st day of Aug. I was delayed 10 days on Peace and Slave rivers by wind, 21 days at Great Slave lake by ice, 7 days on Mackenzie river and Peel river by rain, and 3 days on the Porcupine river by wind. Of course I had only a 19-foot 6-inch canoe; but it is the only way to travel on the Rat river, it being very swift, but having no such rapids as we hear. We left the mouth of Rat river on the 19th of July, and on the 23rd we were out of the West Rat river into the Bell river. And still it was not a good season for travelling.

Dawson is thinning out now, every boat being loaded going out, and everyone seems confident of having good times here this winter. Things are very cheap here, and wages are good. Working men get $1 per day and board to $1 per hour and board themselves.

B. S.—If the Hudson's Bay stores would make quick connections at their junction points it is possible to make the trip from Athabasca Landing to the Yukon river in 18 days by the Porcupine river.

FROM THE NORTH.

Fourteen returning gold-seekers arrived in town from different points in the north, on Monday. H. Henry, Maurice Magnier, and A. Richard, formerly partners with Leon Bureau have been at Great Slave lake since last summer. G. B. Hawkins and W. A. Johnson of Tilsonburg, Ont., wintered 150 miles up the Arctic Red river, in unexplored country, in company with Fugard and Rollins, of the Fugard party. Richard Dunworth, Halifax, N. S., and W. E. Keats, of Montreal, came from Sycamore on the Liard. Wm. Drews, Huntingdon, P. Q., wintered on the Liard above Fort Liard. Jos. Chapman, of Homestead, Penn., was on the Nahanni. Fred Gaden, of Chicago, wintered at Fort Nelson, coming out by the Liard and Fort Simpson. A. C. Moloney, London, Eng.; Robt. Wills, Chicago; Frank C. Connor, New York, and Geo. Whitney, of Jackson, Mich., came from Great Slave lake. Mr. Moloney was a member of the Clatworthy expedition and Messrs. Whitney and Connor were shareholders in the Yukon Valley Prospecting & Mining Co., and went north this spring to investigate the quartz discoveries at the lake. A number of the returning men have staked quartz claims on Great Slave lake, but their value will not be known until the claims are more thoroughly prospected and reliable assays made. The gold quartz was not up to expectations, but the copper appears to be very rich.

There are 20 or 30 returning miners now on the way out—the last of the returning men. Mr. Henry, who was a partner of Leon Bureau, the reported agent of Dreyfus, when told of the St. Esprit despatch crediting his late companion with being an agent of Labori sent north on secret work connected with the case, characterized the report as entirely without foundation, and refused to believe that Mr. Bureau had ever made the statement attributed to him.

W. E. Keats, while on a hunting trip last September, was lost and wandered for 11 days with nothing to eat but a few berries. He was eventually found by another miner, Lampman, 50 miles away from camp, much exhausted. He, with seventy-five others, left Fort Simpson to track up the Liard in August, and reached the "potato patch," 240 miles up the river and 40 miles above Fort Liard, in 20 days. Here they were met by the Philadelphia party which, with 35 pack horses, had come overland and down the Nelson. The Philadelphia men offered to pack their supplies over to Sylvester's Landing, a distance of 175 miles, stating that they had a trail across and were doing a packing business. On the strength of this, three parties gave them in all 1,050 lbs. of provisions to carry over, and 35 pack horses started out. In six weeks they returned, not having been able to strike a trail, and having eaten the provisios. Considerable dissatisfaction arose and the miners convened a court and tried them on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretences. The jury found them guilty and awarded their horses to the men whose provisions they had secured. As the Philadelphia party were out of supplies, and by the award were deprived of horses, and by the award split up, the members, except three, being taken into other expeditions. The three who were left out went up the river by themselves. Had it not been for the delay caused by waiting for the pack train to return and take their supplies the men state they would have pushed on over the divide in the fall, easily. As it was they waited until it was too late to go by boat, so some forty went across with the aid of an Indian guide in the winter. The others returned this spring, coming out at different times.

The fourteen who have just reached town had a difficult time tracking up the Athabasca, on account of the high water. While in camp at Crooked rapids on the way up the water rose in the night and flooded their tent, and a few days after, the water again rose. The trip from McMurray to the Landing occupied 31 days, and the party ran out of supplies and were on short rations when they met Colin Fraser's boats. They purchased some needed provisions from him, but again ran short and would have been in unpleasant straits had not W. L. Wood, the company's agent at the Landing, sent them a fresh supply at La Biche river. The men speak in the highest terms of the treatment received from Hudson's Bay company agents, and are particularly grateful for many kindnesses received at the hands of Mr. Wood.

FROM THE DEATH TRAIL.

Under the above heading the Victoria Colonist, of recent issue, publishes a list of prospectors from the Liard and Dease rivers, who were wrangled recently by steamer Strathcona. Considering that they came from the alleged "Death trail," there seems to be a great many "survivors." The following is the list: H. F. Crane, of Yarmouth, N. J., who is on crutches, his foot having been frozen and amputated; S. Wells, of Quebec; J. B. Kuhn, of Buffalo, and John Green, are surly, victims; B. O'Brien, Vancouver; B. C.; S. B. FORT SASKATCHEWAN FALL FAIR.

The Fort Saskatchewan fall fair has become one of the recognized institutions of the district and has done a great deal to keep the town and district favorably before the public. The weather on both days was all that could be desired, but although this added to the pleasure of those attending, owing to the lateness of harvesting operations it did not tend to greatly increase the attendance. Farmers did not like to lose the time to attend the fair.

Thursday's programme included the first part of the race meeting. The events were as follows:

CONSOLIDATION RACE.

"Brownie" 1st; "Klondyke" 2nd, Two entries.

P. Campbell took D. C. Robertson's place as judge on the second day.

The show of horses was very good, both in numbers and quality. Very few cattle, sheep or pigs were shown, and the poultry show was small but good. The display in the newly erected agricultural hall was very creditable, including grain in the straw, threshed grain, roots, vegetables, butter and cheese, preserves, pickles and ladies' work.

W. Wakeford, of Clover Bar, had a very fine display of grain and vegetables. He showed cabbage 49 inches in circumference when stripped of all loose leaves; cauliflower 31 inches around; cucumbers 8 inches in length; parsnips, 12 inches around and 17 inches long; beauty of Hebron potatoes 8 1/2 inches long and 12 inches around; squash 31 inches around; vegetable marrow 19 inches long and 18 inches around.

J. Alton, of Agricola, who arrived from Party Sound last spring, showed half long carrots 22 inches long and 10 inches around, turnip beet 18 inches around, mangold 23 inches long and 16 inches around, parsnip 20 inches long and 14 inches around, swede turnip 35 inches around and weighing 21 pounds;

H. Lambert showed a cabbage 46 inches around, celery 10 inches around by 26 inches in length, ripe tomatoes 10 inches around, red onions 12 1/2 inches around, short carrots 13 inches around, ripe cucumber 7 1/2 inches around and 6 inches long, rhubarb 29 inches long, and parsnips 13 inches around, squash 25 inches around, tobacco in leaf and in plug ready for use.

Mr. Lambert has grown tobacco at Fort Saskatchewan every year for the past 15 years.

D. Toftield showed a very fine collection of cauliflower, red cabbage, vegetable marrow, ripe squash 17 inches by 17 inches, English Windsor beans, potatoes, parsley, sage, sweet marjoram, and a grand array of garden flowers in full bloom.

John Hemley showed a pumpkin 34 inches around by 18 inches long, another pumpkin 37 inches around, and beets 20 inches around.

T. J. Carsaden, Fort Saskatchewan, showed a white turnip 37 inches around.

H. M. Bing showed a new variety of potatoes called the commercial, and a new variety of beets, both giving excellent promise.

Henry Ayers showed a green tomato 11 inches around, red cabbage 24 inches around, white turnip 33 inches around.

Other vegetables measured: Cauliflower 32 inches; ear of corn 8 inches long, but very green; rhubarb 30 inches long; tomato, green, 8 1/2 inches around; white carrot 23 inches long by 10 inches around; potato 19 inches by 11 inches around.

The samples of threshed grain were very good, particularly in wheat and peas. H. Lambert, Fort Saskatchewan, north, showed fall sown wheat, sown on October 25th and cut on Aug. 22. W. Wakeford, Clover Bar, showed a fine sample of field peas. Also a sample of pea straw of crop which was hauled on July 18th. The straw was about six feet in length and the peas were well filled, but not ripe. T. Swift, of Clover Bar, showed ripe peas in the straw, the straw being nine feet in length. There were two very fine samples of timothy, and a sample of Indian grass, very much resembling bromo grass, which was shown by H. Lambert. Also French clover and wheat in the straw of a variety direct from France. There was also an exhibit of timothy seed. Mrs. J. B. Beaupre showed a very nice lot of maple seed. There were five exhibits of butter in crock, and seven in rolls, eight exhibits of bread, and a very large number of exhibits of jam made from native fruits. The ladies' work was a very good, though not a profuse display.

The judges in the several classes were:

Ladies' work and dairy products: Mrs. Sher, Mrs. Forbes and Mrs. E. Lookey.

Grain, roots and vegetables: Messrs. Bush, Blain and McIntyre.

Cattle: Geo. Long, Gco. Hutton and Mr. Powell, of Beaver Creek.

Pigs, sheep and poultry: J. Carsaden, H. Quebec and T. J. Carsaden.

Carriage horses: Messrs. McLellan, Karmack and Bentley.

Heavy draught horses: Messrs. Hughes, Clea and J. Kennedy.

Dinner was served on the grounds by the ladies of St. George's English church, and a goodly sum was thereby realized for the church funds.

There were besides dancing and refreshment booths.

To the untiring exertions of the president, Gus Doze, and the secretary, G. T. Montgomery, a very large share of the success of the fair is due.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN.

Two funerals took place here on Wednesday last. Chadwick Houston, who accidentally shot himself on Monday, was buried in the forenoon and Mrs. K. A. Bell in the afternoon. Rev. A. Forbes officiated.

Mrs. J. C. Gordon, of Victoria, has returned home, accompanied by her brother, M. S. Anderson.

The old trail between Fort Saskatchewan and Bevington's place has been surveyed and will be opened for travel as soon as the crop has been taken off. The impassable condition of the roads during the past summer convinced all parties at the necessity of re-opening the old trail, which has been arranged for by J. W. Sher, M. H. Wright.

A new cable for the Victoria ferry has arrived at Edmonton and will be taken down at once. The cable has been provided by the North-West government, on the representations of Mr. Sher, M. L. A.

Good progress is being made with H. E. Daniels' new residence.

RETURNING PROSPECTORS.

Ernest George, Edmonton; A. Ducharme, F. Ducharme, Butte, Mont.; Wm. Hunt, Walter Cannon, Illinois; Wm. Beaton, St. Paul, arrived from Great Slave lake and Mackenzie river on Friday night. The men where on the way to Dawson, but were compelled to turn back and followed them down the river of the reported strike at Fond Du Lac, Great Slave lake.

They returned to the lake but the strike not having turned out as it was claimed, and it then being too late in the season to make the Dawson trip, they were forced to return.

In addition to the members of the Yukon Prospecting Association and mining companies, and Great Slave lake mining company the following men will winter at or in the vicinity of the lake: Potts, Buchan, Bertrand, Baird, Tapper, (formerly of Lac la Biche); Davidson, (Montreal); Frey, Barr and Ranths, (Chicago).

Wintering at Fond Du Lac are Livermore and Baker, England and Tapp and Johnstone, and Chardron.

Those preparing to come out are: Mac and Mrs. Westhead, England; Steadman and Walde, Southern Alberta, and Noyle's Nova Scotia.

Dr. Bell of the geological survey department is now at Fond Du Lac making an examination of the auriferous rock there.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

The frost of Saturday night and last night, although not very severe, marked the close of the growing season. This is much later than usual, which was most fortunate considering how rainy weather delayed the ripening of the grain. There are still some fields of oats standing, chiefly such as were sown during the summer and made a second growth. Some of these ripened sufficiently for a crop, but a number will only be useful for green feed. All wheat has been cut for some time, and there has been considerable shrinkage from too early cutting. But there will be no frosted wheat. Last night was cold and windy, and this morning the ground was whitened with snow. It disappeared, however, early in the forenoon. To-day is fine, and flowers in the gardens in town are still uninjured.

FROM THE MACKENZIE.

The BULLETIN has been favored by chief factor, J. S. Camsell, with a list of prospectors who wintered on the Mackenzie, Liard and Nelson and came out on the H. B. Co. boats this spring. The list is as follows:

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

The case of J. J. McHugh against the department of public works for damages sustained by reason of the MacLeod bridge across the Old Man's river being out of repair, came up before Judge Burbridge of the Exchequer court in Calgary on the 25th, and 26th, of Sept. Mr. McHugh was seriously injured in the season of '97 by being thrown from his horse while crossing the bridge, by reason of the horse getting his foot caught in a hole in the bridge. E. Newcombe, deputy minister of justice, represented the department of justice. Mr. Conibear of Lethbridge appeared for the department and Senator Lougheed for Mr. McHugh. The evidence taken in the opinion of the judge established the facts as to the injury suffered and its cause. The question of the responsibility of the Dominion government in the matter will be argued out in Ottawa. This case is of special interest as bringing up the general question of responsibility for keeping public works in repair. This the Dominion government is not inclined to admit. But it is something that should be definitely settled.

HINKLE'S BODY FOUND.

The body of J. W. Hinkle, of Mattoon, Ill., drowned while trying to ford the Halfway river on the 3rd of August last, was recovered about the first of September in the Peace river near St. John. The body had floated 27 miles down stream before being discovered by W. Pearce, of Edmonton, and a man named Digby Grimson who were going up the river in a canoe. The remains were buried near the Hudson Bay Co. post at St. John. J. R. Peters, formerly partner of the deceased man, arrived in town on Friday and leaves shortly for his home in Mattoon, Ill. He expects to return to Edmonton and go north again.

When Mr. Peters left Peace River Crossing on the 9th September, Burbank was still waiting there with his trading outfit, unable to get up stream on account of the exceptionally high water on the Peace.

FROM TAGISH.

A letter from Tagish, Yukon district, dated Sept. 18th, says:

We have had a showery summer with lots of dull cold days, no hot weather to speak of at all. The highest temperature recorded this summer was 82 in the shade, covering a period of about three days.

The steamboats of the Canadian Development Co., of Victoria, B. C. plying between Bennett and White Horse rapids, have carried the mail since the opening of navigation, letters newspapers and parcels. We have had a regular weekly mail since the first week in June.

This is purely a police post, no others being allowed to build or reside here. Inspector Primrose, late of Fort Saskatchewan, left here on September 16th for Dawson, having been transferred from this division to the one in Dawson.

A police party is now out 10 miles from the post putting up hay for winter use. Your papers were quickly seized upon by several men from "G." division stationed here who wished to learn what was doing in your district.

Sept. 18th, '99.

INTER-WESTERN PACIFIC.

Visitors returning from the Inter-Western Pacific exhibition at Calgary report an attendance of about 3,000, fine weather and good display. The roots and vegetables were a surprise,—especially aided by the very wet season. Cattle and horses were the strong point of the fair and were well supported by sheep, pigs and poultry. There was also an excellent showing of butter. The Hudson's Bay Company and the Calgary Brewing Company had very fine special displays. In the trot Parlow's "Cherry Ripe," won easily over the Manitoba horse owned by Chambers, of Wawanesa. P. Burns took 1st for heavy draught team, 1st for carriage team and 1st for saddle horse. Goddard, of the Bow river ranch, took Commissioner Herchmer's special prize of $35 for saddle horse. R. G. Robinson took 1st for Clyde stallion, and McLaughlin Bros. 2nd for Shire stallion. Briggs took 1st for stallion of cavalry class. W. Stewart, of MacLeod, took 1st for his standard braded trotter, "Bob Kirk," and J. R. Sutherland 2nd for his "Sharper King." Mr. Stewart also had three race horses there. J. Thompson, home-stead inspector, took 1st for yearling hackney. Turner took a number of prizes in Clydesdales. J. Owens and David Thorburn showed a number of brood mares and foals successfully. The latter also was successful in draught teams. Shattuck, of Davisburg, took 1st for short horn bull. Mr. Gibson, of Toronto, was sole judge of horses, and gave every satisfaction.

FARMER DELEGATES.

Arrived on Friday's train : N. S. Myers, Ashland, Ohio; Fred Harris, Warren Bothwell, Cozad, Nebraska; F. M. Morrison, Edwin Shackleton, Norden, Nebraska. These gentlemen have visited the Yorkton and other districts of the west; also LaCombe and Ponoka, Messrs. Prinz and Beech of Exeter, Nebraska, also came in on Friday's train but could not remain and went out Saturday morning.

THE SASKATCHEWAN VALLEY.

The gradual coloring of the leaves this fall, owing to there being no frost to change the color suddenly, has made the deep valley of the Saskatchewan, with its wooded banks, a perfect, yet changing, dream of beauty during the past week. While the colors lack the brightness and startling variety seen in an eastern forest, there were so many tinges from light green to yellow, with here and there a few dark green spires of spruce standing almost black against the lighter color of the dying poplar leaves, that the eye was quite as much delighted with the softer and harmonious shading as with the startling contrasts of the east. The view from any point on the bank of the valley at or near Edmonton is unexcelled as a valley scene.
